

Oscar and Emmy award winning wildlife Photographer & Filmmaker, Jim Frazier, discovered this unique art form 40 years ago. Since then he has developed it into a highly sophisticated series of techniques which produce these extraordinary artworks.

Natural crystals are dissolved into a liquid solution which is then brushed onto a glass plate. As the solution dries out, the crystals start to grow and develop and it is during this stage that the 'potential' for producing an image is realized. With the use of sound tones, energy fields, fine brushes, wooden tools, jets of air and small flames it is possible to alter the crystal's growth patterns and produce an amazing array of different forms.

Jim's techniques produce large Crystal formations which can be manipulated to form a variety of images that may be bizarre, beautiful, intriguing – or all three at once. Alien landscapes, strange animals with appealing eyes and a great variety of peculiar plant like structures. With all the permutations of the various techniques involved in producing each Crystal image, it is impossible to create the same painting twice.

At this stage the finished crystal paintings are silver/white in colour. The next part of the process is the colouration and photographic process by adding several back lights with an unlimited choice of interchangeable colour filters. Any colour or combination of colours can be selected before finally triggering the camera shutter to capture these unique art images.

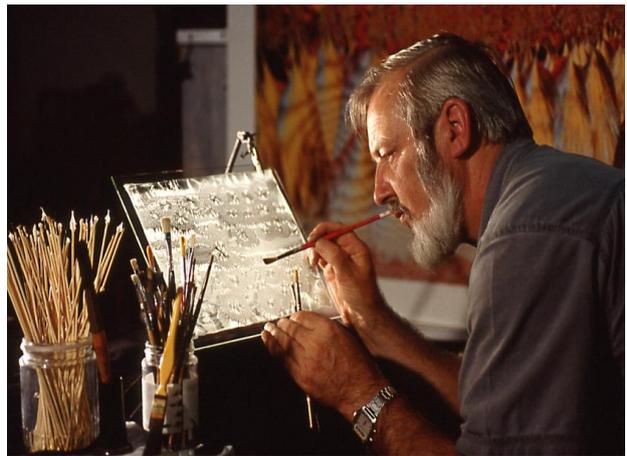

Over the years Jim has sold his works to a number of entertainers and celebrities around the world.

His work has been presented traditionally on Canvas or Print and can now be reproduced on Glass, Acrylic, Aluminium, Tiles and Fabric.
